Better Than Medicine!

Charter Oak Stove OR RANGE

Yields perfectly cooked food, thus promoting health and saving doctors' bills. The wire gauze oven door DOES NOT COOL THE OVEN. The wire gauze oven door DOES NOT REQUIRE EXTRA FUEL, because the fresh air which is admitted is constantly combining with the carbon in the meat or bread, producing extra heat, and actually requiring less fuel than the stove with close oven doors. The wire gauze oven door enables you to roast meats as perfectly as can be done before the of legal cap paper, which serves him as sufficient space in which to charge the partner of his joys and sorrows with having so tampered with her person as to prevent conception and render herself incapable of bearing children, also with having impaired her health to such an extent as to deprive him of his marital rights.

was served with a copy of the summons this morning, and has not had time in which to frame an answer that will insure the granting of the divorce to her instead of to Mr. Bowan.

With the trickery and cunning which might be looked for in a man of his antecedents, Bowman resorted to subterfuge to prevent the publication of the contents of his petition and succeeded so far as to hoodwink both of the morning papers. The Post-Disparch, however, discovered Bowman's little game just in time to block it. To begin with, Bowman and his attorney, Judge James Lindley, put off the filing of the exception of the chief clerk, had departed for the day, before

SLIPPING IN WITH THE PAPERS.

The office closes at 5 o'clock daily, but owing to a rush of business the chief clerk was datained an hour after closing The office closes are 30 clock daily, but owing to a rush of business the chief clerk was detained an hour after closing time and in that way unconsciously served the purposes of Messrs. Bowman and Lindley. The chief clerk, at their request, unlocked his desk and filed the suit. This morning the papers in the suit were turned over to the Sheriff for service on Mrs. Bowman. Mr. Bowman was on hand bright and early, and immediately the Deputy Sheriff returned with the papers Mr. Bowman prevailed upon the Sheriff to send a Deputy with the papers to the Circuit Clerk's office in his company. The papers were surrendered to the clerk, who receipted for them to the Deputy Sheriff and handed them over to Mr. Bowman at the latter's request, who said that he wanted them for his attorney and would return them later in the day. By this little piece of jugglery Bowman kept the papers out of the way of the reporters and at all times in the keeping either of himself or the court officials.

The Bowmans have one child, a young lady 18 years of age.

THE FEDERAL COURTS.

No Action Taken in the Wabash Matter-Ore and Steel Affairs.

Judge Treat sat to-day in the United States Circuit Court, and there was a gather-ing of legal lights in anticipation of something being done toward confirming the sale of the Wabash property. ing the sale of the Wabash property. The morning wore on, however, and not a word was said on the part of either bench or bar with reference to the Wabash sale. An effort is being made by the parties in interest to adjust matters, however, and it is expected that the Court will make an order in about two weeks prior to adjournment for the summer vacation. At present the only payment on account of the sale is $82,000.

The Ore and Steel Company.

In the matter of the Ore and Steel Company the receiver to-day asked the United States Court whether such moneys as may be collectable by compromise or otherwise from Robt. M. Cherrie on account of his indebtedness to the Ore and Steel Company and may come into the hands of the receiver should be reported to this court or to the United States Circuit Court for Northern Illinois, in order that it may be determined whether the Ore and Steel Company are entitled to priority in respect of the assets.

The receiver further asked instructions to institute proceedings in Illinois or New York against R. M. Cherrie and Geo. S. Frink for the purpose of inquiring into the disposition of the assets of R. M. Cherrie's assigned estate and recover judgment for the amount of the Ore and Steel Company's demands; unliquid claims [42,523.98 allowed by the assigned of Cherrie; claim of $3,489.12 for damages disallowed in the Cook county Court; acceptances, $73,500, held by Joatmen, Mechanics and Merchants' National lank, and $35,000 held by Joatmen, Mechanics and Merchants' National lank, and $35,000 held by Joatmen, Mechanics and Merchants' National lank, and $35,000 held by Joatmen, Mechanics and Merchants' National lank, and $35,000 held by Joatmen, Mechanics and Merchants' National lank, and $35,000 held by Joatmen, Mechanics and Merchants' National lank, and $35,000 held by Joatmen, Mechanics and Merchants' National lank, and $35,000 held by Joatmen, Mechanics and Merchants' National lank, and $35,000 held by Joatmen, Mechanics and Merchants' National lank, and $35,000 held by Joatmen, Mechanics and Merchants' National lank, and $35,000 held by Joatmen, Mechanics and Merchants' National lank, and $35,000 held by Joatmen, Mechanics and Merchants' National lank, and $35,000 held by Lackswanna Iron & Doal Company.

Some Startling Testimony in the Maxwell Case To-Day.

For the first time Maxwell may be said to have cowered. He stood the dragging out of the stained trunk in which the body decomposed, and carcely quiv-ered at the sight; with flippant nonchalance the bundle of clothing that had been out from Prelviewed, with scarcely a per-ceptible quickening of respiraing of his own drawers found on the rotting carcaes of the dead man. All of these things were like twice But when Detective McCullough stepped quietly out of the rear room and stood facing the unsuspecting throng there one man in the court to whom the sight of the witness came like a thunder bolt. That man was Maxwell. He fairly shrank and cowered at the first glance. It was only for an instant. The change in his aspect, the paling of his face and the consternation depicted in his countenance was noticed by only a few in his immediat tree before a sudden blast. It was momentary and, with marvelagain the prisoner was again the restless spectator.

There was one change that might

The wonder is not that he flinched, but that

A confession possesses more interest than all the testimony in the world. What the prisoner thinks and feels is sought after more by the public than anything else in a murder trial. Aside from the sensational nature of Detective McCullongh's testimony and the fact that it was a carefully prepared surprise which eams with the force of an exploded mine, the fact that he narrated what Maxwell had said made it doubly interesting and for once the attention of every man, woman and child in the court-room was intense and breathless. The drop of a pin an, woman and child in the court-room was tense and breathless. The drop of a pin ald have been heard with distinctness. The tion with another. His tone was conversa-tional and the confession was given without regard to climares. It did not disclose a par-ticle of light or shade. And yet it may be re-garded as the sensation of one of the most sensational murder trials on record. Granting the truth of the statement and while the witness in his talks with Maxwell has taken care to provide corroborative cir-cumstances there might be some doubt arising from the way in which it was obtained, it proves the murder and the motive for it. it proves the murder and the motive for it It proves the method of the killing.

Maxwell was out of funds and Prelier had refused to advance him money for his trip West, because he said he had only enough for himself. Maxwell was in dire need of cash, and as if to still his own conscience said, said I would fix him for his meanness The pain that Prelier suffered offered the ex-cuse, the hypodermic syringe made the deed possible, and the chloroform completed the

There is one important thing in the testi-mony—important above all else. The killing might have been proven by circumstantial evidence, the motive might have been proven in the same way, but the method would have emained in the dark. The hypodermic syringe figures largely in the crime. It has been identified, its contents were analyzed, and yet few could magine how it figured in the case. proform reaction only was found in the viscera of the body. There was one hing to be settled. How could the prisoner chloroform a powerful man such as Prelle vas? Those only who have tried to place a man or an animal under influence of the drug can realize the drift in the way and the desperate struggle which takes place before the chloroform gains scendency over consciousness. Maxwell was

The hypodermic syrings made the deed possible. Under pretense of easing his pain Prelier was rendered insensible, and the rest was only the saturation of a handkerchief with chloroform and placing it over the face of the powerless victim.

In this light the crime was the cold, deliberate, cowardly act of a villain treacherous and cruel as heli itself. There is in it the suggestion of that feeling which prompts a man to put his foot on a snake.

Whatever may be said of this method of con-victing a criminal, and it has been tried before, the prosecution has added to circ tial evidence testimony which, if unshaken, will make irresponsibility the only refuge of the defendant from the gallows.

PROCEEDINGS IN COURT.

Continuation of the Testimony in the Ma

The first witness called in the Maxwell trial this morning was Amadee Augustus Mellier, who was a druggist under the Southern Hotel in March and April of last year, but who is in March and April of last year, but who is now a druggist in Kansas City. "Will you look at this defendant, Mr. Mellier and state if you ever saw him before?" "I have." "When?" "Easter Sunday, 1885." "About what time did you see him on that day?"

'About 1:30 or 2 o'clock."
'Was he alone?" "No; a gentleman was with him."
"Who was with him?"
"Mr. Frailer, I think."

"Mr. Prelier, I think."

"State what occurred."

"Maxwell wanted something to quiet his neves; he said some bromide of potassium and valerianate of ammonis."

"What was the condition of the defendant?"

"He seemed nervous and restless. Mr. Prelier and he were talking together about buying a sponge, a bottle of tollet water and other articles, and Mr. Prelier said that they had better buy them now because they might not find an opportunity before they got to San Francisco. They were talking together while I was preparing the mixture."

"Who did most of the talking?"

"The defendant."

"The defendant."

"Who paid for them?"

"Mr. Preller, who handed me a $10 bill out of a roll of money to take the amount out of."

"How much was the bill?"

"It amounted to about $7 or $8."

"And Preller paid for all of it?"

"Yes."

"Old they take their purchases with tham?"

"Yes."
"Did they take their purchases with them?"
"No, I sent them to the room?"
"What room?"
"Room 385, I think."
"Could you describe Preller?"
"Yes; he was tall, had dark hair and eyes do a dark mustache."

and a dark mustache."

"Could you recognize a picture of him?"

"I think I could."

A picture of Prelier was shown the witness, who examined it and said: "That's the man."

"Did you see them afterwards?"

"Yes. I went to the cigar stand to get a cigar and saw them talking together. They boughs a box of cigars."

"Who bought the box?"

"Who bought the box?"

"Mr. Prelier paid for it."

"Who kept the cigar stand?"

"Fred Castle kept it."

"Is this the last time you saw Prelier?"

"Yes."

Mr. Fauntleroy took the witness. The chief point harped upon in the cross-examination was the amount of money which Prelier had. The witness said he took it to be a large sum from the size of the roil and the denomination of the bills. Prelier gave him a fib bill, and he saw a 250 bill. He should judge that it was a large roll—$150 or so. He couldn't swear to it. Judged this from the fact that men usually carried their smaller bills on the outside of a roll. Heard Prelier remark at the cigar stand that it was hard to get fresh imported cigars in England. When the two men were talking together, he was standing near them at the prescription counter.

Mr. Fauntleroy then went into the subject of the effect of the mixture of bromide of potassium and valerianate of ammonia and the effect of taking chloroform on the nerves. Chloroform was a setative to quiest the nerves. Chloroform was a strong antiseptia. The witness disclaimed any scientific knowledge of the effects of the drug after a pretty lively cross-examination. Mr. Bishop said that the witness did not claim to be an town, and I told him there were plenty of them."

"Did be say anything more about his connection with the Turkish army?"

"He said he was a Turkish Pasha—a Pasha with two tails." [Laughter.]

"Anything about Turkish women?"

"He said when he went out in Turkey he carried two horses tails and he said that he could buy a woman in Turkey for $5."

"What was his condition?"

"He struck me as being under the influence of liquor from his manner and he stumbled as he went up the steps.

The Coit's revolver was shown the witness but he said he could not identify it, as he had only glanced at it and told him he could not ahoot it in the gallery."

"Did you see him afterward?"

"The next day, Monday, I saw him; he was coming out of Lightner's shoe store. It was 2 or 3 o'clock in the afternoon. He came to the gallery; showed a pair of opera-glasses, for which he said he had given $50. He tried them on the target. He also showed a diamond ring. [Witness identified the glasses.] The defendant on his second visit fired eight or ten shots. He wanted to fire his Coit's revolver, but I didn't. allow it. I never saw him afterward." On the cross-examination by Mr. Martin, the witness said that he didn't believe the stories the prisoner had told. He simply thought he was trying to attract attention. His conduct was that of a drunken man. It was a common occurrence for young fellows to imagine themselves great men, when under the influence of liquor. Mr. Clover suggested that the liquor was not always necessary to make some peopje think themselves great. Mr. Martin replied that the maiady sometimes affected officers for the Stato.

"I saw the clothing in the gray trunk."

"I saw to relie hunters?"

"I gave away a large number of little things that seemed to be of no value. Such as a lot of little glass ink stands, which were pretty little things."

"There were a lot of things scattered in the yellow trunk—a heterogeneous mass?"

"Yes, it was like a boy's pocket on a large scale."

"Yes, it was like a boy's pocket on a large scale."

The witness was then examined as to the things found in the trunk, the machine he took for a scroll saw, the slides of a magic lantern, several boxes of little saws and other things. He said he could not place a value on them.

Mr. Clover asked Mr. Bishop if he had examined the trunks marked "O. A. P." He said he had, and described the contents, clothing, underciothing, music, samples, etc., as already mentioned on Saturday.

Reference was made to the correspondence found in the trunks.

"There were a great many letters," said the witness, "many addressed to relatives of Mr. Prelier, and others appeared to be copies of letters addressed by Prelier to his employer. Mr. Dixon. There were a number of bill-heads marked, "A. H. Dixon.""

The witness, who was scored unmercifully took it cooly. He is a heavily built many slightly above medium height, with medium, slight hair and red mutton-chops and monstache. He had an English cast of countenance with small, blue eyes, low forehead and heavy jaws.

Mr. Fauntleroy, when his objection was over-ruled, contended that he should ask certain questions of the witness. The Court told him he could ask them and the Court would pass on them. A squabble took place between Mr. McDonald and Mr. Fauntleroy, in which Mr. McDonald and Mr. Fauntleroy, in which Mr. McDonald and Mr. Fauntleroy, in which would shut him up. Mr. Fauntleroy asked a series of questions, all of which were objected to and objections sustained.

"Where were you born?" "How old are you?" "How many times were you in prison besides this time?" "How many crimes have you committed?" "I there any crime you would hesitate to commit?" were Mr. Fauntleroy's questions. He declined to pursue the subject further.

Mr. McDonald: "Did you make any threats or offer any inducements to secure these statements from the prisoner?"

"No, sir; the statements were made voluntarily."

"What else did he say about his expenses?"

"He said he bought a steerage ticket, which cost him $100."

"Did he say anything about the clothing he took from Freller's body?"

"He srid it was in his trunk in the steerage and he could not get at it and said that he would have made away with it if he could have gotten the clothing out."

"Did he say anything more about his trip?"

"He said he had a pleasant trip, said he had $160 when he reached there, and told me about his experience in Auckiand."

TRYING AN ALIBI.

Mr. McDonald then brought the witness sawar that he had the money when he left Boston. He asked Maxwell what he wanted, and Maxwell explained that he wanted, and Maxwell explained that he wanted the witness to prove that he had a large sum of money before he left Boston. Maxwell said that the witness could say that they had met him in a club-room at Young's hotel and had called at his room. They could state that they were with him and that on the day he left Boston they dropped into Murphy's to take a drink, and Maxwell treated. That he had a large roll of bills, and one of them suggested that he was careless in carrying his bills so loosely in his pocket, and they could swar that they saw $500 or $500 in bills, he didn't care much what.

The two men then agreed on the manner of making up the story and of posting the witness alleged friends how to testify. It was first suggested that the two friends be introduced to Maxwell's autorneys and then brought into fail to see him, but this was dropped. Maxwell said he might ret bond and get out, so it was agreed that they witness explained that "2 w." meant two witnesses. The card was torn into two pieces, Maxwell taking one and putting it in his drawer in his cell and the witness taking the other. The witness had a card on one side of which was "Hon. John I. Martin, Attorney-at-law, St. Louis, Mc." and on the said he wanted that sworn to, as it was the missing link."

THE METHOD USED.

"Did Maxwell over say anything to you about chloroform being the best method for killing a man?"

"A few days after I got in jall a man was shot; Dr. Coates, I believe. The prisoner said that if he had a man to kill he would not do it that way, the chloroform was so much easier."

"Now, Mr. McCullough, tell what you did after you got out of jall?"

"I got out on bond and went to New York. I had an understanding that I was to write to him, the prisoner, putting the letter inside of an envelop addressed to John I. Martin. I did that."

o'clock in the afternoon. He said he then stayed around until Monday morning, when he went out and bought several things, trunksjamong them. He then packed his own trunk, putting the things he had taken from Preiler's body into it. He bought a ticket for San Francisco, for which I think he said he paid $116."

"What further things did he say about his trip, or about his money?"

"He told me he had about $700. Of course, then he told me he went out and got a glass—a field glass."

"What did he say he paid for the glass?"

"He didn't say."

"What else did he say about spending money?"

"He said he spent $26 here, but did not say what for. He spent $20 on the trip to San Francisco. He wore a long gown, he said, on the trip. When he got to 'Frisco he went to the Palace Hotel and took a room. He said he lest his keys on the way out, and paid a man $2.60 to open his trunk. In the evening he went out to take in the town. The first man he met was a confidence man who said he could not get his money said he could not get his money have been in jail for forty-seven days when he said he did not have the change. "Jage Laughlin as security. Then he did not have the change." in all for forty-seven days when he gave bond in the sum of $2,000 with ex-Judge Laughlin as security. Then he jumped his bond and want to New York. An indictment was returned against him by the Grand-jury, Cashier Hutchinson of the Mechanics' Bank and two cierks in the employ of Dr. Smith being the witnesses against him. The State officers say that neither Phillips nor any of the other witnessess who appeared before the Grand-jury knew who McUnilough really was, all supposing he was a forger Even Dr. Smith himself was not let into the scheme and believed McCullough, or Frank Dingfelder, as he was known to them, to have committed a forgery. The case against Dingfelder is still pending in the Criminal Court. He says that from New York he wrote Maxwell under the name of John F. Mahon concerning two witnesses he had secured that would testify that Maxwell had money when he left Boston. He further insists that both Mr. Martin and Mr. Fauntieroy wrote him replies to these letters, wanting to make appointments with the men who were to do the swearing, but Mr. Clover would not let him carry the matter any further, and told him he must not meet the attorneys. There is some talk of introducing these letters of Messrs Martin and Fanntleroy in court this afternoon, if the latter become too victous in their attacks.

A very funny feature of McCullough's jall life is the way he was pursued by attorneys who wanted his case. He told them his scheme was to get bond and skip town. Joe Furlong endeavored to get him to plead guilty and accept a five-years' term in the Penitentary. McCullough or Dingfelder was unwilling to agree to this, but intimated that he might take a two-years' term if one could be secured for him.

Moloney, the late reading clerk of the New York boodle Aldermen, to run him across the border into the United States. It is well known that for months; not only Moloney, but Aldermen Dempsy and Delacy as well, who are sharing his exile here, have been living in constant fear of the fate which it is said Moloney narrowly escaped last night. They dare not walk out at all at night for fear of being selzed from behind, bound, gagged and whirled away toward Sing Sing. They are afraid to take a carriage ride lest the doors should be clapped shut, the horses whipped up, and the ride continued to the portals of Judge Barret's court-room. Canadian detectives do all they can to excite the fears of the fugitives, and are said to be rapidly bleeding the frightened men out of all their carnings in the aldermanic business.

Mr. Campbell held the charter gave him the right to the floor except to reply to questions. Mr. Campbell held the charter gave him the right to debate all matters presented in either branch of the Assembly relating to his department. Mr. Fox moved that he be allowed to proceed. The chair decided the motion out of order as the right to speak was given the Comptroller by the charter. Messrs. Marriot, Sullivan and Stone attacked this view with varied degrees of victousness. Mr. Waters was beyond speech. Messrs. Brueggeman, Gartenbach and Fischer held the Comptroller's right to speak was unquestionable. When the motion was put to save time they declined to vote at all, as did Mr. Wenzlick who had been vainly endeavoring to read the charter provision with relation to the Comptroller. But the four finally voted aye, and the vote on count showed only one no—Mr. Waters. The Comptroller said the measure was to benefit the new limits and was only opposed by a few of those whose rate of taxation was increased. THE continued firing between skirmish lines of the Greeks and Turks seems to be due solely to the close contiguity of the opposing forces. If the desired armistice can be arranged, there will be no more such firing in advance of a declaration of war.

WHEN the New York Mugwumps waged war against Mr. BLAINE, they showed that they can wield an immense influence when re-enforced with a just cause; while their futile hostility to Gov. HILL indicates that they have failed in attempting to make out a case against that public officer.

THE Kansas Democrats claim that their wishes have not been properly consulted in the appointment of Federal officials. ALIEN AND SEDITION LAWS.

neidents of the recent strikes are being used to set native and foreign-born laborers in hostile array against each other The press is beginning to teem with sugrestions of a revival of the old "Alien and Sedition Law" crusade against foreigners and agitators.

At the beginning of this century the cry was that all the foreigners coming to this country were imbued with the anarchic and atheistic principles of the French Jacobins, and would plunge American society into the same gulf of revolution and massacre which had just afflicted France. But in spite of that cry and crusade, Jefferson Democracy triumphed and came into power under the lead of a man who was denounced as a disciple of Rous-SEAU and as a demagogue of the most dangerous "agrarian and leveller"

Later the Know-Nothing crusade was introduced to down the Democratic party by organizing native laborers against the foreign born, and Protestant against Catholic. Then we were told that all foreigners were Catholics and bent on establishing in this country the civil and ecclesiastical despotism of an alien Pope. Some Democrats fell into the trap, and wageworkers were caught with the idea that Know-Nothingism would give them a corner on the labor market, insuring them prosperity and independence. But Denocracy triumped over Know-Nothingism, and very few Democratic papers are now aiding in the attempt to teach American workmen that a new crusade against foreigners as dynamiters, atheists and anarchists is the panacea for all the ills that labor is heir to.

It is in the power of the workingmen t cure those ills as far as legislation can cure them, by united, well-directed and persistent efforts at the ballot box against policies that give combinations of capital an undue advantage and impose unfair burdens on labor. But there can be no such work done at the ballot box while workingmen can be induced to waste all their strength in maintaining hostile clans, organizations and class fends and fights among themselves. There is plenty of law in this country for the punishment of the disorderly and the lawless. Let the workingmen obey these laws and aid in their enforcement, but not allow themselves to be deluded with the idea that they can better their condition or strengthen themselves by any kind of legislation that smacks of class favor or class proscription.

THE codfish interest will probably come out all right if it will only keep cool and keep the law on its side. The statutes under which their vessels have been recently seized in Canadian waters did not, as construed by Canadian courts, sustain seizures that were made in similar cases years ago, and even if a different construction should now be put upon those statutes, or new statutes should be enacted by the Dominion Parliament to cover such seizures, the British Government will hardly sustain any action so contrary to the spirit and purpose of existing treaties. In the case of the White Fawn, seized in 1870, the Vice-Admiralty Court of New Brunswick held that the foreign vessel found "fishing or preparing to fish" within three marine miles of the Canadian coast, but that buying bait in a Canadian harbor could not be regarded as preparing to fish in the prohibited waters, unless it could be shown that the bait was to be used in those waters, or, in other words, it was held that the vessel did not violate the statute by buying bait in a Canadian port to be used more than three miles from shore. The seized vessels will probably be released, and the threatened war between blue-noses and blue-bellies averted.

A COMPANY has been organized in Philadelphia for the purpose of establishing iron works in the iron ore region of Alabama. This industry has been the main factor in building up the city of Birmington, Ala., which has now 25,000 inhabitants. The contiguity of coal and iron deposits creates the conditions necessary for the successful operations of iron works, and these conditions obtain in Alabama. It is in accordance with the same rule that Southern cotton factories pay a larger dividend on the money invested than those of the Morth. When the factories are built close of transporting the raw material a great distance is avoided, while other advantages accrue from the enjoyment of a milder climate. In view of these facts, it is not surprising to find a continuous increase in the number of Southern cotton factories, and a decline in the same industry in New England. Some Northern manufacturers are moving their plants to the South to get the advantage of cheaper production and larger profits.

The Anarchist Gives Bond. A COMPANY has been organized in Philadelphia for the purpose of establishing production and larger profits.

Or the several Legislatures which have adjourned this spring, that of New York is thought to have made the worst record and to have shown the most flagrant disregard of the public welfars. The Ohio Legislature has been more noisy and extraordinary in its methods; but the New its mad career by a Governor who knows how to put his veto where it will do the most good. During recent years the Empire State has contracted the habit of electing bad Legislatures and good Governors, thus furnishing another illustra-tion of the checkered character of human experience.

Mr. Morrison is reported to have said that the present House of Representatives has done nothing "distinctly but such an assertion is not well founded. The defeat of the Senate steamship sub-sidy bill was distinctly Democratic; the prompt suppression of corrupt Republican practices, the summary stoppage o campaign assessments, and other things that might be named, are all distinctly Democratic. The House of Representatives has left undone some things which it should have done, but a part of its action has been conspicuously proper. It will have a chance to make another "home run"when the Pacific Railroad bill comes up for consideration. If this improper and scandalous scheme is not defeated the voting public will insist on knowing the eason why.

ALL the law-breakers in this country are not professed anarchists nor foreigners nor strikers. A law-breaker is a criminal, whether he be native or foreign born, whether millionaire or striker, and the American system of government may be in more danger from those whom it has made rich and powerful than from all the anarchist cranks on this side the ocean, were they a thousandfold more numerous than they are. These are truisms, but there are some American citizens who are as much distressed about the failure to suppress Nihilists and eradicate anarchists as the White Czar himself.

Doubtless he was encouraged by the promptness of the Senate in confirming Maj. Harrigan's appointment. The Missourians now feel that there is a prospect of an early change. It is expected that Mr. Bliss will be the first to go. A strong effort is being made to persuade Senator Cockrell to desert Burke on account of the ngly attitude of his friends.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 24 .- Prof. Alexander Graham Bell and his associates, Dr. Chichester A. Bell and Sumner Tainter, have Chichester A. Bell and Sumner Tainter, have recently made a discovery and in relation to it have worked out a number of inventions which they believe to be not inferior in importance to the discovery of the art of telephony itself, and the inventions to which that discovery has ted. They have discovered, or rather Chichester Bell has discovered, that a failing jet of water or a fiame of gas burning in a room mimies echoes and perfectly reproduces every word spoken and every sound uttered in the room. Having discovered the voice in the jet of water, the workers se tabout seeing if they could not transmit and record and reproduce that voice. All these they succeeded in doing. The water, or liquid of whatever kind it may be, is colored with blehromate of potash. If it were perfectly clear it would not answer, because the light used in photographing would pass through without resistance, and no record would be made on the tablet. The water is colored for photographing, and the jet is made to fall obliquely on a glass plate. The water spread out that is to be photographed as it passes. Words spoken cause the jet of water to vibrate. The vibrations in the jet cause corresponding vibrations in the film of water as it breaks and spreads on the glass plate and runs off. A ray of light is passed through that film and through the glass plate to a sensitive tablet behind. The vibrations of intensity of the impression made on the photographic tablet, speaking continues. cently made a discovery and in relati tablet behind. The vibrations in the liquid film are reflected in the vibrations of intensity of the impression made on the photographic tablet, speaking continues, the jet keeps running, the film keeps passing over the plate, the recording tablet keeps moving as the film keeps moving, and the light passing through this film to the tablet makes a record of the speech far more accurate than any verbatim report. Years afterward, if the plate is revolved on a pivot, and the depressions and elevations conveyed by a microphone to the ear there will be a repetition of the two minutes' conversation as distinct as when it was first delivered.

Code of Procedure.

y Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch. Washington, D. C., May 24.—A large num-ber of petitions have been received of late upon the Judiciary Committees of the Senate and House the necessity of providing a Federal code of procedure. A bill for this object is now before each of these committees. The bills, which are similar, provide for the appointment of a Federal Code Commission and extend an invitation to each State and Territory to appoint one or more representatives to advise with this commission with a view to making the Federal code as near as may be acceptable, not only to Congress, but also to the Legislatures of all the States and Territories, and with a view to further its voluntary adoption in time by each of them, thus securing by the consurrent action of these independent legislative bodies one uniform practice in all the Federal State and Territorial Courts. Justice Miller of the Supreme Court, writing of the present situation for the American Law Review of St. Louis, says that the Federal Judges and the practitioners in the Federal Courts are enate and House the necessity of providing says that the Federal Judges and the practitioners in the Federal Courts are left to grope their way in this mingling of federal law with that of thirty-eight States of the Union and of the enactments of the Legislatures of eight Territories and the District of Columbia. The condition of the Justices of the Supreme Court of the United States, who are bound to take judicial notice of all these different laws and are expected to ascertain what they are, can well be imagined.

They say they are ready and willing to furnish to members of Congress, or to any committee they appoint, all detailed information which they may desire, or to any committee they appoint, all detailed information which they may desire, both as to the materials used and the whole process of manufacture. They say that this industry increases the value of beef cattle fully $\foatsymbol{S}$ per head. Appended to this protest are letters from Dr. Cyrus Edson, Food Inspector of the New York Board of Health; Dr. O. C. DeWolf, Health Commissioner of Chicago, and Dr. John H. Rouch, Socretary of the Illinois State Board of Health, testifying that the butterine and oleomargarine are clearly palatable and wholesome food products, containing nothing injurious or detrimental to health.

The House this afternoon, by a vote of 140 to $4, went into Committee of the Whole to discuss the bill to impose a tax of 10 cents a pound on oleomargarine and kindred compounds. Randolph Tucker will make an effort to kill the bill by tacking on an amendment removing the sax from tobacco. Any revenue amendment is in order. It is believed, however, that the bill will pass the House. An effort will made to smother it in the Senate Committee.

Alvin Schlegel Surrendered to the New

The mystery surrounding the spiriting away of Aivin Schiegel, chemist of the Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company, has been cleared up. Sasurday a note was received by the firm ng that Schlegel would not return to work as he had been arrested on a requisition from Governor of New Jersey and taken that State. There was no further to that State. There was no further explanation. The note was not in Schlegel's handwriting, and an examination of his accounts showed them to be all right. As his employers knew of no offense he had committed and the police were unable to furnish them with any information in regard to the arrest, they not having heard of it, there was considerable mystery surrounding the affair. This morning it was learned that Thomas A. Gallagher, one of Pinkerton's New York men, arrived here Saturdaylas agent of the State of New Jersey with a requisition from the Governor of that State on Gov. Marmaduke had honored the requisition, and Gallagher presented it to Olivouit Attorney Clover, who detailed Police Officer Rickham, who does duty in his office, to make the arrest. This Kickham did, and turned Schlegel over to Gallagher, who took his man to New Jersey. The requisition states that an indictment is pending before the Grand-jury of Jersey City, N. J., against Schlegel for larceny and receiving stolen property. It is supposed to he a prosecution instituted by the Lorillards, whose tobacco factory is located there. That firm now has large law suits pending in court charging the Liggett & Meyers Company with infringing on their patents. The Circuit Attorney neglected to notify Ohlet of Police Hnebler of Schlegel's arress, hence the ignor ance of the police concerning it.

A negative answer would be fatal on the second point, and an affirmative on the first point would be fatal likewise. A citizen who has good reason to believe that he has been robbed is not bound to explore every field or to make a critical examination of every avenue of information, nor is he bound by the extent or publicity of his inquiry to put the supposed culprit on his guard for this would defeat the purpose of the prosecutor.

Duty of Citizens in Prosecuting Crimes—New Suits Filed To-Day.

Judge Horners to-day in the case of Schloss against the St. Louis & Mississippi Valley

Transportation Company rendered a decision declining to set aside the verdict for the defendant. This was a case of a claim for damages for alleged malicious prosecution. In such cases the Court holds that guard for this would defeat the purpose of the prosecutor.

Every good citizen is bound to aid in the administration of justice, and to that end it is his duty for the benefit of the public to prosecute all persons toward whom circumstances point as having been gulity of a crime. Prosecutors of crimes are to a certain extent public benefactors, and when they have proceeded in good faith upon a state of facts as would lead a reasonably cautious person to conclude that a crime had been committed, although a subsequent trial shows the contrary, it is only just that the courts should so conduct cases of malicious prosecution as to narrow the inquiry to the good faith of the prosecutor viewed in the light of the circumstances surrounding the case at the beginning.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.

The New and Unfail ng Formula.

THE DUFFY MALT WHISKEY COMPANY has had prepared for it, with special care, a formula which is a sure and positive cure for any family housekeeper (raw beefsteak and DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKEY being of the ingredients). This formula will be sent, under seal of the company, to any person afflicted with consumption, and using our whiskey, free of charge upon receipt of a two-cent stamp. It is equally valuable for Indiges-TION, DYSPEPSIA and recovery from Wasting DISEASES. The demand for it is universal, its efficacy is pronounced and curative, and the sestimonials to its virtue are numerous beyond mention. All inquiries concerning the Formula and the use of our whiskey in any disease will be cheerfully answered by our

PHILADELPHIA FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Gentlemen—My wife was attacked about six years ago with a disease which some of our most reputable physicians pronounced Liver Complaint. She has been under the treatment of some of our most noted physicians for the disease, but they seemed to be of no benefit to her. Also tried various other remedies and all seemed to fail to give much relief. Her condition was very feeble, being very much reduced in fiesh. I am satisfied that she did not weigh over 85 pounds. I noticed your advertisement in papers and thought I would get your formula and Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and give them a trial, and, much to my satisfaction and more to here, after using the first quantity we made she found a decided relief, and now, after a continuance of about four weeks, the pains have all left her, and a gain of flesh is also noticeable. I have no hesitancy in stating the improvement is due to the use of you medicine according to formula.

ISAAO WARD, 3661 Ludiow Street.

ISAAC WARD, 3661 Ludiow Street.

CINGINAATI, HAMILTON & DAYTON TRANSFORTATION OFFICE, TOLEDO, OHIO.

Gentiemen—The benefit that I have derived from the use of Duffy's Pure Mais Whiskey and formula has surpassed my most sanguine expectations. I commenced using your formula about four weeks ago, and in about a week the cough had entirely disappeared; since then I have not been sroubled with it. I gained about seven pounds in three weeks. I am twenty years old, six feet two inches in height, and at the present time weigh 162 pounds.
After using the formula about two weeks every one of my sequaintances noticed a decided improvement in my appearance, and they all said I was getting fat and that I never looked so well. So you may be sure I had to tell them what made this great improvement in my appearance, and formula to all my friends, and I have written out the formula for four or five persons who are troubled with bad colds.
My parents think, and I think so myself, that I would have had consumption but for the use of your whiskey and formula. So you may judge from this letter what benefit I have derived from the use of your whiskey.

Mz. JOHN C. GROSS, Riverside, N. J.,

MR. JOHN C. GROSS, Riverside, N. J., writes: "After using and trying almost everything, cod-liver oil, beef tea and many other medicines without gain in strength, or health; have been suffering for over two years from Consumption, Hemorrhages, Mairria and Dyappesia. I took as my last refuge your Dufty's Fure Mait Whinkey, and I am much stronger and better."

Ma. PHILIP O'CONNELL, 776 E. 85th St., New York City, writes: "I was taken with hemorrhages of the lungs four months ago, and have slies had asthma. Concerning the effect of your formula and Duffy's Pure Mais Whiskey, the benefits derived from their use have been far beyond my expectations. Since taking them have gained greatly in strength, with almost complete relief."

THE LABOR TROUBLES.

Broadway and Biddie, but did nothing more than to continue their determination to hold out for eight hours.

Olcott, Durosa & Co. of the Broadway Planing Mill, with others, gave a trial of three weeks on the eight-hour system. It was found that it was simply impossible to follow such a system and compete with other points where mand-facturers were operating under the ten-hour system. The assertion of some of the men who are "out" that Olcott, Durosa & Co. pay the smallest wages is without foundation. Their list of salaries equals that of any similar establishment in the city, and they have recently paid 10 per cent advance.

Every furniture and chair factory in the city, with one exception, is closed down to-day. The situation remains as it did when the trouble began a week ago. The men are fully determined to stand out for eight hours, while on the other hand the manufacturers say they are as equally determined not to open up until they can operate on the ten-hour plan.

To-night the workmen of the furniture and chair factories, numbering in all over tweive hundred, will have a monster meeting at 8 o'clock at the Union Hall, Broadway and Benton street, in the northern part of the city.

There were about 1,000 people assembled at the annual festival of the St. Louis branch of the annual festival of the St. Louis branch of the Socialistic Labor League, which took place at English Cave yesterday. Stepsihad been taken by the police for the suppression of any riotous demonstrations which might be made, but the crowd was very well behaved. A speech was made by Max Staehr, who expressed a few socialistic views and urged the brotherhood to agitate for better recognition of the workingman. The red flag was flying on the grounds, but was said to have no especial significance, except as an emblem of friendship and equality. The St. Louis branch numbers about 4,000 members.

The Moulder's Trouble at an End. The Stove Moulders' Union No. 10 held an important meeting at Lightstone's Hall Saturday night. The principal subject of discussion was the circular which was issued by Bridge, Beach & Co., asking the moulders to be satisfied with the present rate of wages. After considerable discussion it was decided that the terms of the cicular be accepted, the company having promised a raise all around of 15 per cent as soon as there is an improvement in business. The Equalization Committee, which had been appointed to make up a schedule of rates on piece-work in the different shops, was discharged, their work having been completed.

very elaborate display in the coming Butcher's Parade.

The eight-hour question was discussed by the wood-workers at Lightstone's Hall yesterday. The debates was prolonged and it is probable that some time during the week there will be a move for eight hours work and ten hours pay.

Huber's Grove was the scene of a quiet pionic yesterday by the Metal-workers' Union. The time was given up to enjoyment, dancing and outdoor games. Geo. Riefgraber, the anarchist editor, was on the grounds with the the expectation of addressing the crowd but had no opportunity.

Twelve new members were admitted to the Grocers and Grocers' Clerks' Mutual Protective Association at their meeting yesterday. Mass-meetings were set for May 30 and June 3. The association have decided to establish an employment office and reading-room for the use of members.

About 100 men representing the box-nailers and asswers of the various planing mills in this city assembled at the Social Turner Hall yesterday. The eight-hour question was discussed, on which there was a great diversity of opinion. It was finally decided that the men now out stay out and induce those not out to join them.

Employes Insist on Eight Hours' Work-Th

Other Strikers. CHICAGO, May 24 .- The employes in Nelson Morris & Co.'s establishment at the Stock Yards protest against going to work at 7 o'clock, preferring an hour later. Friday evening the employes joined the Knights of Labor, and Saturday appointed a committee which waited on Superintendent Newgoss and made known the workmen's wishes. Mr. Newgoss told the committee that he expected the men to go to work whenever it was necessary, and that it was impossible to slaughter cattle in the heat of the day. They were working eight hours and would be paid for over time. Mr. Newgoss said yesterday that the company was losing money at the rate of $4,500 a week under the new scale of hours and wages, and that if the old scale was not resumed the house would be closed.

The freight-handlers held a meeting yesterday atternoon with an attendance of more than five bundred men. A large number joined the organization. It was concluded that there was little prospect of securing eight hours, all the roads having obtained what men they needed at ten hours. Resolutions were passed to persist in endeavors to secure the shorter day. made known the workmen's wishes. Mr. New men they needed at ten hours. Resolutions were passed to persist in endeavors to secure the shorter day.

Last Saturday, a meeting of the sash, door and blind manufacturers was held. The subject under discussion was the present standard of wages, and whether the Chloago firms could maintain she same and compete with other cities. The whole matter was thoroughly discussed, and the conclusion reached that the old scale of work and wages would either have to be returned to or the milis closed. Accordingly, it was resolved to make an effort to day to go back to the old system, and that failing, to shut down altogether. This resolution was discussed at a meeting of the Wood Carvers and Machine Hands. Union yesterday, and a vote on the question called. By this it was decided that should the manufacturers endeavor to go back to the old standard to-day, that the entire Union go on a strike.

reported that less than one-third of the mine between McKeesport and Brownsville are is full operation. The operators give severa reasons for this condition of affairs. Som attribute it to the fact that during last year's strike large numbers of miners obtained other employment and did not return to the mine after the strike, while others put it down to the long dry spell. The miners explain the fact by stating that the difference of the cent in wages in favor of the railroad mines has caused a large mitration from the river to the railroad. Another reason given by them is that miners in England Scotland and Germany have been so well posted by their returning friends on the present state of the American labor marks; that the stream of immigration to this country has been practically stopped. Many miners from those countries, who had been on the river for several years, have returned home disgusted at the low rates of wages now ruling.

MILWAUKER, Wis., May 24,-The great ps and demonstration of the Knights of Labor yesterday was a success, although not as yesterday was a success, although hot as largely participated in as it was expected by the sanguine leaders. Instead of 15,000 only 4,500 formed in line, with twenty-five bands of music. No flags but the national one could be seen, and each man carried a badge showing the stars and stripes. The banners all bore inscriptions relative to monopoly and capital. Order and quiet prevailed throughout.

The Rev. Mr. Ivert of the First German Baptist Church comes out in a card written in strong terms and assails the Knights for their disregard of religious worship. It seems that divine service in his church had to be interrupted, owing to the playing of the twenty-five bands of music marching by his church, much to the disgust and chagrin of his congregation. He stamps this as a nuisance and hints at a possible prosecution for it. Many Catholic Knights were prohibited from joining the ranks by their priests, who would not sanction a procession on Sunday.

CINCINNATI, May 24.-About 600 harn makers struck to-day for an advance in wages. They had been working eight hours day, but are not satisfied with the wages reday, but are not satisfied with the wages re-ceived. They demand an increase of from 15 to 20 per cent.

The Volksblatt is gradually filling up its cases left by strikers last week. Some of the strikers have returned, but the Volksblatt will not receive those who carried guns in the Socialists' procession a few weeks ago.

H. Coldren's hat factory at Adamstown, involving a loss of $30,000. John Downing, formerly of Yonkers, N. Y., was arrested and placed in jail and the detectives are looking for the others. It is even alleged that a resolution was offered in the union to burn down the hat factories. The arrest caused a great sensation. The finishers of over half the factories in this section are still on a strike.

tingent of the loyalists is preparing to take a hand in the contest. Incited to action by the frequent public demonstrations of approval of Gladstone's measures lately made by the Nastionalist element in the United States, those who claim the Ulster district as their birthplace, or who have relatives or friends there, have taken steps to make known to the people in the North of Ireland that they have sympathizers in this country and that they can look to them for aid in case it shall be required. On May 4, the Grand Lodge of Orangemen of the State of New York, met in Oswego and passed resolutions consuring Gladstone, denouncing Parnell and offering assistance to the anti-Nationalists. Grand Master Wm. H. Kennedy of this city sent the following cable dispatch to Wm. Johnson, member for South Belfast in Parliament: "Grand Orange Lodge, New York, protests against Parnell, Gladstone & Co. shome-rule bill. Can we help the Loyalists? Reply." To this came the answer: "Many thanks. Johnson will write." The letter indicated in the latter dispatch is expected soon, and will be read at the next meeting of the State Grand Lodge, to be held in Troy on June 8, when it is expected that between 500 and 600 delegates will be present from all parts of the country, and that measures will be formulated for giving effective assistance to the loyalists." Gladstone's measures lately made by the Na-

THE PAST AND PRESENT OF THE FAMED ITALIAN CITY.

Modern and Ancient Quarter of the City-The New Italian Navy-Habits and Language of the Neapolitans.

By Telegraph to the Post-Disparce.

New YORK, May 24.—The Naples correspondent of a morning paper, writing under date of May 1, says: Naples to-day is in many respects quite unlike what it was a few years ago, and is constantly progressing, but the visitor who stops at one of the fine hotels in the new part of the city, must not confine his walk to that part, nor his excursions to the beaten track of tourists. The older part of the city exists practically unchanged, and presents to the stranger many queer scenes and odd phases of life. Many tourists, though, I fear, resemble an Englishman and his wife whom I saw in a picture store. "I want a Madonna," said the lady.

"What kind of a one will you have?" said the dealer; "we have many." "I want a Madonha—a Madonna, you know, ike this (picking up a photograph) you know. What's this?"

"That is Miss Pixley, the American actress "Oh, well, I want a Madonna; any one wil

Speaking of tourists reminds me that a distinguished American was here not long ago— Mr. Winston, our Minister to Persia. He vis-ited the United States flagship and was received with a salute of fifteen guns and all the usual honor, and when he went on board he wore a sober suit of black, a plug hat, a red necktie and was smoking a cigar. He also took in Pompeli which he said reminded him of the town of which he said reminded him of the town of Pullman. In general, one comes to Naples aware that there is a fine bay, Vesuvius and Pompell, but I found that I had not allowed for steamers loading and speak a dialect quite different from the general tongue and unintelligible to a majority of the better class, but equipped with a knowledge of those signs any one can go forth undismayed at the sight of peddiers or beggars. If you raise the fore and little finger from the closed right hand they see in the sign the horns of the devil and beat a hasty retreat, probably motioning over the shoulder to insinuate that you have no money. It is said that the native can carry on a conversation by gestures without the aid of the tongue, but in reality they use them to eke out their scanty language. Beggars are't so numerous as formerly, yet there are enough of them to make one think the business men or other citizens drop their vocations to extend a hand to the stranger. But there are undoubtedly many wealthy people also, for the opera is now here better patronized than elsewhere. It is hard to believe the tales of tourists that crowds of '''Lazzaroni'' used to make their homes in the streets and swallowed strings of macaroni, to the great delight of foreigners. From an experience of the climate during January, February and March, I would say that a ragged beggar must be very tough-skinned to bask in the open air during those months. If such a class of men ever existed, they have disappeared, absorbed into the army and navy, or into the constantly increasing ranks of the boatmen and stevedores. The weather at Naples is not exactly as pictured by an enthusiastio writer in Harper's for April. During the last three months it has been raining, windy and quite cold, the mercury often falling to 35 deg. fahrenhelt, and the sides of the neighboring mountains have been frequently sprinkled with snow. In summer it is said to be very hot and unhealthy. During the last cholera epidemic the death-rate reached the high

Looking in the doorways on the ground floor one sees it or eight shoemakers working in a room ten feet square, washerwomen, carpenters, bakers and small shopkepers, plying their trades about the doors and front part of the same room which contains the whole familith on which these classes live, but it is wonderful that they are not worse. Most of these rooms that a man gets a glimpse of at night as he passes by contain several bedsteads and cots in the back, sometimes separated by our tains; the family sits around a table sewing of the same of the same seems to the lovest classes. I have seen lately, in several papers from home, vivid accounts of the wrecks wrought by the demon at Monte Carlo, but really it can hardly compare with the Louisians State ogre or the thousand of vampire bucket-shops that flour-lish in every city in the United States. THAT pure water for potable use is essential to health, is a fact doubless appreciated by all. The thought of drinking impurity is athorrent, yet we believe that but few persons who use water from either hydrant, cisters or well, without proper filteration, enjoy a water sup-ply of reliable purity. In this belief we are supported by the testimony of most able selentific men, whose broad research and technical investigation has enabled them to suggest modes for preventing the peculiarly fatal diseases which arise from a lack of proper sanitary precaution.
